

Separation systems, automatically working, no operator required

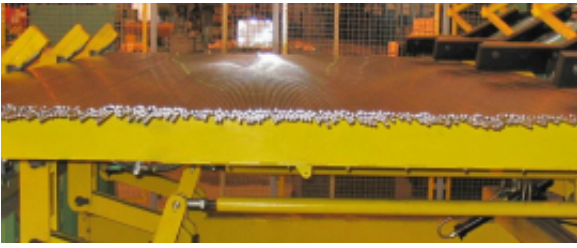

Automatic, manless working separation system for hot-rolled bars in front of a straightening machine

Automatic, manless working separation system for tubes in front of a pointing machine and in line with a drawing and straightening line

Automatic, manless working separation system for bars in front of a 2-roll-straightening machine

Automatic, manless working bar separation system for automatic multiple layer forming and for feeding an annealing furnace